Canon 5D Mark II HD Camera

The EOS 5D Mark II is unusual among DSLR digital cameras in that it is capable of recording Full HD video with the camera's 21.1Mp, full frame 35mm-format sensor. The camera captures image files with incredible quality and color accuracy.

What does this all mean?

This camera provides the shallow depth of field of 35 mm film, at video prices! This allows for stunning imagery and production value that has previously been unattainable for most productions.

We have you covered with extremely high quality lenses ranging from 12 mm wide angle, to 200 mm f2.8 telephoto lens. That is a lot of range and creative choices available in the field!!

The camera shoots Full High-Definition video with 1080p image quality, at frame rates of 30 or 24 fps with sound. We also attach an external digital audio recorder for recording professional-quality stereo audio with the video, furthermore, we can play back video clips on a HDTV display in full HD quality with the cameras HDMI Video output.

We have you covered with the experience and expertise shooting on this new generation of production tools!!
